

CHRIS BROWN

President and Chief Executive Officer

Chris Brown is the president & CEO of Lubrizol. Founded in 1928, Lubrizol owns and operates more than 100 manufacturing facilities, sales and technical offices around the world with more than 8,500 employees.

Before his time at Lubrizol, Chris served as president and CEO of BHE Infrastructure Group, a Berkshire Hathaway Energy company. In this role, Chris leveraged his operational and business expertise to seek out new commercial opportunities and deliver on Berkshire Hathaway Energy's investment strategies for infrastructure projects.

Prior to joining BHE Infrastructure Group, Chris served as president for North American sales and service operations for Vestas, growing the business into the largest supplier of wind turbines in North America. His background also includes roles as chief operating officer of the city of Detroit, plus time as a senior executive in the offshore wind industry, a large U.S. utility and an international utility