

Tom Curtis

corporate senior vice president and president of Lubrizol Additives

Tom Curtis is corporate senior vice president and president of Lubrizol Additives. He joined Lubrizol in 1990 and has served in positions that include global marketing manager, project manager, technology manager, regional business manager, global business manager, global account manager and vice president, engine oil additives. Additionally, he completed a five-year expatriate assignment at Lubrizol's Hazelwood, United Kingdom, facility.

Mr. Curtis holds a bachelor's degree in chemistry from John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio.